

OVER THIRTY FOR CONTINUATION SCHOOL IS LATEST ESTIMATE

And 14 Year Olds Only Must Register Tuesday—Night School to Begin Early, Decides Board—380 Boys Registered for Drills—Building in Rear of School Completed.

1 EDUCATION.... A regular meeting of the board of education was held Friday evening at the high school with members Herbert and President Fleming absent. In the absence of Mr. Fleming, Commissioner Kearney presided. Routine business was transacted, bills and payrolls for the month of September were ordered paid.

Continuation school work was discussed by the members of the board and it was decided that only the employed 14 year olds should be registered next Tuesday at 1 o'clock at the high school. In an effort to learn how many 14 and 15 year old children of the city were employed an examination of the city records at the board of health office was made and a short time ago a report was made that there was only one 14 year old child employed. A later investigation discloses the fact that there are at least 18 boys and 14 girls of the 14 year old age who are employed. This will provide as many pupils as can be handled at this time and the board will register only the 14 year old employed children next Tuesday. All employed children were 14 years old on or before September 7 and not yet 15, will be required to register at the specified time Tuesday.

Failure to register and attend the continuation school as required by law makes it compulsory for the employer to dismiss the pupil from work and the pupil will then have to attend school regularly.

A communication was received from Stock & Cordis, furniture dealers on Broadway, for permission to use the high school auditorium some time during the latter part of October for an Edison phonograph concert. A concert for the pupils and teachers would be given in the afternoon and in the evening a concert for the public would be given free by the Edison representatives. On motion of D. G. Atkins, the permission was granted, subject to the usual conditions.

An invitation to the board to attend the 72nd anniversary of the founding of St. Mark's A. M. E. Zion Church on Foxhall avenue was received and accepted by the board. The celebration takes place on September 28.

A letter of thanks was received from Mr. Bailey for use of the various school grounds during the summer for playground purposes.

Trustee Van Wageningen, of the finance committee, offered the pay roll for the month of September, amounting to $16,771.38 for payment. Bills totaling $13,090.90 were also ordered paid.

The building committee reported the work on the building in the rear of the high school completed and presented bills amounting to $776.50 for work thereon.

As the visiting committee had been unable to visit the schools in the short time they have been opened the same committee was continued for another month.

Superintendent Michael brought the matter of purchasing a mimeograph to the attention of the board. One of the pupils from the commercial department at the high school had come to him for some mimeograph work about the time school opened and asked that some one from his office operate the machine. As there was no mimeograph in the commercial department the pupils, he said, had no opportunity of learning how to operate one and he recommended that one be purchased for use in the office of the superintendent and the old one now there be given to the commercial department for use of the pupils. The cost will be about $150, and on motion of Trustee Gill the matter was referred to the finance committee with power.

As the board of education is compelled to maintain a night school for 80 pupils during the year, the members of the board voted to start the session as early as possible in order that the school be finished before the warm spring weather arrived. In former years the night school has started off big and then gradually dropped off in attendance until by early spring there were few students. With the first few warm days the call of the big out-doors is usually too strong for these few to resist and the night school dwindles to a handful. By starting early this season the school will be about finished by warm weather.

Superintendent Michael reported that Thursday evening of this week the military training commission required the boys between the ages of 16 and 18, inclusive, to register with the teachers at the various schools. The boys had to be at the schools until 9 o'clock that evening to register. A total of 380 boys were registered.

The following report of Superintendent Michael was received by the board:

To the Honorable, the Board of Education:

I respectfully submit the following report:

The schools were opened on the 21st of September with normal attendance. All the teachers being present with the exception of Miss Johnson of School No. 6 who was absent on account of illness of her son. The following table shows the attendance of the pupils on the 21st of September:

teacher of No. 3 school.

At the beginning of the last school year in September 1919 the Palmer Method of Writing was introduced under the efficient supervision of our writing supervisor, Miss Margaret Mulligan. The publishers of the Palmer system of writing furnished free instruction in their method to any of our teachers who were willing to devote the required amount of time and practice to the study of the system. I am pleased to report that a very large percentage of our teachers took the course offered by the publishers. They were required to devote a stated amount of study and practice in the Palmer system of writing. The exercises of these teachers were sent weekly to the central office in New York where they were carefully criticized and returned to the teachers through the office of the superintendent of schools. As soon as a teacher completed the course in a manner satisfactory to the Palmer instructors, a certificate of proficiency was issued to her which qualified her to teach the system. The following have already received the Palmer certificate:

School No. 2—Misses Finn, Hale, Osterhout.

School No. 3—Misses Delaney, Thorne, Hanley, Thompson.

School No. 4—Misses Cullen, Osterhout, Gunter, Smith.

School No. 6—Misses Netter, Edson.

School No. 8—Misses McGrath, McGonny, DuBois, Finn, McAndrew.

The principals report to me that the following teachers are expecting to win the Palmer certificate during the current school year:

School No. 1—Miss Dougherty.

School No. 2—Miss Reardon.

School No. 4—Misses Schutt, Parkhurst.

School No. 5—Misses Ginsburg, Hasteu, Wachmeyer, Hearn, Healy, Herslow, Marsh, Osterander, Mulhern.

School No. 6—Misses Riskey, Freer, Connors, Hewitt, Fitzgerald.

School No. 7—Misses Van Gansbeek, Gumaer, Gorse, Spauler, White.

School No. 8—Misses McGrath, McGonny, DuBois, Finn, McAndrew.

As soon as a pupil has made fair progress in the system he is presented with a Palmer button; later with greater improvement he is given a progress pin after which comes the improvement certificate and when his writing becomes equal to that of a certified teacher or supervisor, he is given the final certificate. The following table indicates the number of buttons and progress pins earned by the pupils in the Kingston schools.

	Buttons.	pins.
School No. 1.....	5	0
School No. 2.....	46	4
School No. 3.....	23	3
School No. 4.....	50	3
School No. 5.....	37	3
School No. 6.....	37	3
School No. 7.....	4	1
School No. 8.....	18	0

Ethel Van Eiten of School No. 5 has earned an improvement certificate. Final certificates have been awarded to Anna Balsam and Goldie Kline of School No. 3 and Viola Schoon of School No. 5.

A study of the table of registration shows a gratifying increase of 175 in attendance in all of the schools as compared with the registration on the same date in September, 1919, as follows:

	1920	1919	Inc.
School No. 1.....	96	91	5
School No. 2.....	334	314	20
School No. 3.....	227	202	25

School No. 7.....	467	407	60
School No. 8.....	407	403	4
High School.....	679	667	12

I have made a personal inspection of all the schools and in visiting every class room I have made about eighty-eight inspections.

I cannot close this report without commending all the janitors for the neat and cleanly condition of the several school buildings.

The schools have never opened during my superintendency with greater promise of excellent results than this fall. The teachers are enthusiastic and the children seem to be interested in their work and happy on their return to school.

Trustee Virgil Van Wageningen brought to the attention of the board the fact that there are several of the busy street corners in town where the school children are compelled to cross at very busy times of the day and as many of the children were small, there was danger of someone being run over by automobiles and seriously injured. He particularly mentioned the corner of Albany avenue and Clinton avenue.

As a remedy he suggested that the matter be taken up with Chief Ward and see if it could be arranged to have a policeman there when the children were crossing at school times. On Broadway at St. Mary's School an effort is usually made when school is dismissed and he suggested that if possible similar arrangements be made for other busy corners. Superintendent Michael will take up the matter with the police and see if arrangements can be made to have the policeman on the most busy corners at those busy times when the children are crossing.

The report was submitted.

HIS FIRST JOB

Getting Uncle Sam back on his feet

MAIN ST. TO BE BARBER SHOPLESS

Max Roth To Close His Popular Place and Enter New York Business—Has Sold Out To Joseph A. McNellis and Company Who Will Use Place in Their Electrical Business.

Max Roth, who for the past ten years has successfully conducted a barber shop in this city, has sold out his business at 5 Main street to Joseph A. McNellis & Company, electrical contractors, and will shortly leave Kingston for New York city where he will engage in the whole sale and retail fruit and vegetable business in 121st street with his nephews, Niederholt Brothers, who conduct the Harlem Fruit and Vegetable Market. "Max" as he is known to his many patrons will be missed by a great many people in the city who for years have patronized his shop. Since coming to Kingston 12 years ago he had made many friends and has numbered among his patrons many of the best people of the city.

Joseph A. McNellis & Company will take possession of the shop on October first and immediately alter the place and use it as an additional room for their rapidly growing electrical contracting business. Lack of room for their increased business made the move necessary.

With the closing of Max Roth's barber shop Main street will be without a barber shop. Until a few years ago there were several shops in that vicinity and one by one they closed out until but one remained. Although "Max" will close his shop on October first he will remain in Kingston until after election before taking up his home in New York city. Since coming to Kingston "Max" has always been interested in the foreign-born residents of the city and a few years ago when the Progressive Club was organized among the foreign born men he became one of the workers in the club and for a time taught English to the members and assisted those who sought to become citizens of the United States. Although Max will engage in business in New York he will still call Kingston his "real" home and hopes some day to return and make his home here.

RENT BILLS PASS LEGISLATURE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25.—What New York special legislative session did for the tenant:

Limited landlords to four grounds for warranting dispossession proceedings as a protection to hundreds of thousands of families who might otherwise be evicted October 1. Hereafter, if Governor Smith does as expected and gives his approval necessary to make the bills laws, landlords can evict a tenant only for non-payment of rent; desire to occupy his own place himself; intention to tear down the building to erect another dwelling, or prove in court that his tenant is objectionable.

Every landlord in New York city can be compelled by court order obtained by a tenant to prove that the rent he has asked any time in recent years has not been extortionate and of proportion to his investment. This law applies to apartments and hotels of less than 125 rooms where tenants have leases for more than one week.

Continuance of the joint legislative commission, which is not only empowered to examine further legislation with a view to additional reforms, but is also invested with authority to investigate alleged building materials combinations, which are claimed to be responsible for the high prices of building materials and the lack of new construction, has been authorized.

For landlords and dwelling owners, the legislature did:

Exempted from local taxation for a period of ten years, new dwellings, the construction of which is started before April 1, 1922, and completed within two years.

This exemption, however, is up to local boards for decision.

BARTH CO. PLANS ANNOUNCED AT C. OF C. SMOKER FRIDAY AT "Y"

Expect to Employ About 200 Men—Will Operate Woodworking Plant Turning Out Refrigerators and Foundry for Stove Castings—McCoy's Message Worth Hearing.

The plans of L. Barth & Sons Inc. for the future growth of the business in Kingston was announced briefly by W. L. Cort, production manager, at the smoker held by the Chamber of Commerce at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night in honor of the city's latest industrial plant. The smoker was attended by a representative gathering of business and professional men. The Barth Company expects shortly to add a woodworking plant and stove foundry to the equipment here and will employ about 200 men.

The smoker Friday night was in the nature of a welcome to the representatives of the Barth Company, and also for the purpose of getting together the men of Kingston for an informal good time and to listen to several talks that would create the desire to help do more for the upbuilding of the city. These smokers are annual events, and have proven highly successful.

Friday night in the absence of Charles R. O'Connor, president of the Chamber of Commerce, from the city, County Judge Joseph M. Fowler presided as chairman, and in opening the session said that there was a new spirit of team play prevalent in Kingston, and that the men from all sections of the city were united and pulling together for the upbuilding of the city. Chambers of Commerce have advanced to that point where they rightly speak for the community. They are the "Vox Populi" of the cities. He welcomed those present and called upon C. V. A. Decker to introduce W. L. Cort, the production manager of the Barth Company. Mr. Decker, who is a member of the New York State Hotelmen's Association, of which Mr. Cort and Mr. Barth are also members, said that he knew Mr. Cort well, and was glad that any concern he was connected with had located here.

Mr. Cort said he wanted it distinctly understood that he was no orator, and even if he was it would be hard to live up to the laudatory remarks of Mr. Decker. He brought the regrets of Mr. Barth, who was unable to attend, and said that he had personally spent two years in the east looking for a site for the proposed eastern plant. It was enough to say that they had settled here and that they liked the location and liked the people.

The concern manufactures a general line of hotel equipment. The company had been held up by the congestion on the railroads in the arrival of its material here. They expected to employ in the near future about 200 men. They were also planning the establishment of a woodworking plant for the manufacture of refrigerators and a foundry to obtain the necessary castings for the stoves. They built all kinds of stoves, those for gas, electricity or coal.

M. L. Reben, another representative of the Barth concern, was introduced by Secretary Hudson. Mr. Reben laid stress upon the fact that the Barth concern was going to make progress slowly. They expected to develop slowly but surely with every forward step well thought out. He said that it was Mr. Barth's aim to have the men employed at the plant own their own homes, and if they were capable men but unable to invest the necessary money he stood back of them to assist them in obtaining the finances. It is a hard proposition to get good men for the business, and when they are obtained and developed in the work of the plant it was desired to keep them.

A letter of regret from Mayor Canfield, who, owing to a previous out of town speaking engagement, was not able to be present, was read by Secretary Hudson.

Charles E. Neer, resident superintendent of the Barth Company, and his son, were then introduced, but as Mr. Neer said he was no orator they were not called on for a talk.

Frederick Sutro, a member of the Palmetto Interstate Park Commission was the next speaker of the evening. He called attention to the fact that the commission was deeply interested in the subject of good roads on the west bank of the Hudson river and that they had done everything possible to have the great west bank highway built. He said that the famous Storm King mountain stretch of the state road would be completed next year, which left the last important link, the Rondout creek bridge, and he was glad to learn that the cornerstone of the bridge had been laid. With the completion of the Storm King road and the creek bridge the state highway would be completed from Bear Mountain north to Albany, and would link up the cities on the west bank of the Hudson river.

W. H. Rudderham, manager of the L. B. Van Wageningen Company, was also introduced to them present by Robin Steele, but he refrained from delivering a talk.

Schwartz C. Schultz, chairman of the membership committee in the big drive to be launched by the Chamber of Commerce next week, was introduced, and said that they needed at least one hundred and fifty new members. He then introduced Governor E. McCoy, president of the Hudson Valley Federated Chambers of Commerce, who was the principal speaker of the evening.

Mr. McCoy said that he was thoroughly convinced in Chamber of Commerce work that he was not only a member of the Peekskill Chamber of Commerce, but also a member of the Poughkeepsie body, and was also a member of the Westchester County Association. If he was not deeply interested he would not invest his money in memberships in the organizations. He said that the spirit of service should be the spirit of the age. Any man who has reached forty years of age and has not realized that service was the greatest thing in the world was a failure.

"Don't be a sponge," he advised, "be a lemon. Let them squeeze you and get something out of you. Don't try to absorb everything, learn also to give." He said that he employed men not to try to sell goods but to sell goods. They had to have faith in the product they handled in order to make sales. You have to believe in your city in order to sell it. Are you going to sell Kingston to Kingston next week?

"Yes," replied a voice in the audience.

"Then if you mean that," said Mr. Cort, "you are going to make this coming membership campaign a success."

He said that he believed they could go out and sell Kingston to Kingston for at least 800 memberships in the Chamber of Commerce.

Every man ought to love his own town. If he did not he was not a good citizen. You have no right to claim citizenship in any city unless you have done something worth while to make it a better place than when you first came to it.

Cities have personalities the same as men. Does a city look alive as though it was on its tip toes? Does it interest visitors and give them the impression that it is a hustling town? That is simply a reflection of the people who live there.

If the town looks slow and sluggish as though it had fallen asleep, don't forget it is just a reflection of its citizens. As the town appears, so its citizens live. He believed that the most progressive town, along the Hudson river was Poughkeepsie. He said that last year the Chamber of Commerce there decided to increase the membership fee to $50 a year. They then put across a membership campaign and obtained 600 members with a revenue of $30,000 paid in advance. This is what Poughkeepsie thinks of the Chamber of Commerce. The men down there appear to be alive and hustling. He said he was casting no reflection on Kingston, but simply wanted to give them a mark to aim at in the campaign for members next week.

He wanted to impress the fact that it was not a man's pleasure it was his duty to be a member of the Chamber of Commerce. There was no organization that could equal a Chamber of Commerce for creating the community spirit. He believed it should really be called a Chamber of Citizens.

In closing he said that they should not forget that the life of a town depended on its Chamber of Commerce. They should go out with the idea of selling at least 800 memberships and they should have no difficulty in doing so. The Chamber of Commerce meant something in the commercial life of the city. It was as much use to the working man as the merchant.

Secretary Hudson, the last speaker of the evening, said that while he agreed with Mr. McCoy on many of the points made by him he could not agree with him that Poughkeepsie was the most progressive city in the Hudson valley. It should not be forgotten that Poughkeepsie started a $25 fee Chamber of Commerce years before Kingston did. Personally, he said, he did not believe in the $50 membership fee. For it was apt to shut out the working man who could afford to pay but $25. He also believed that there should be two memberships, one for himself and assign the other to his wife. Judge Fowler was chairman of the plural membership drive, while Mr. Schultz had charge of the membership drive. He saw no reason why Kingston should not have as large a membership as Poughkeepsie or any other city in the New York state. What the Chamber of Commerce had accomplished during the year just passed was well known.

The smoker was held in the banquet hall on the upper floor of the Y. M. C. A. and every chair in the room was occupied during the session. Considerable credit should be given Postmaster W. C. DeWitt, who was chairman of the committee of arrangements, for the success of the smoker.

State's Course in Poultry Work.

The annual short course in poultry husbandry to be given at Cornell this winter will include twelve weeks of instruction and continue until the end of February—Feb. 15, 1921. This period includes about two weeks of vacation during the Christmas and New Year seasons. The time given to the course is fully occupied by a regular schedule, with the work carefully planned so that practically every phase of the poultry industry is dealt with.

9,000,000 WOMEN VOTE THIS YEAR

Hold Balance of Power and If They Vote as They Did in Maine Republicans Will Have Unprecedented Landslide This Fall.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.— About 9,000,000 women will vote in the November election and they undoubtedly hold the balance of political power. This statement is based on a computation made from the woman's vote in the Maine election.

About 80,000 women voted in the Maine election. Based upon the census of 1910 that number is 32 per cent of the number of women 21 years of age who live in Maine. The Maine women number, according to the 1910 census, 248,309.

In the United States, according to latest census statistics, there are 26,833,566 women of voting age. If the ratio of 32 per cent which existed in the Maine election prevails in all the states, and it probably will as the women generally will want to vote for the first time, there will be cast in the November election an aggregate woman vote of 8,602,741, or nearly nine millions. In the northern states the percentage probably will be higher and in the southern states lower because in the "Solid South" the black man is largely disfranchised, and the negro women will receive the same political discrimination in that section. But the nation's average probably will be about 32
per cent, which will give nine millions.

Similar statistics show that there are 29,577,690 men of voting age in the United States. In the presidential election of 1916 there were cast 18,- 528,743 ballots, 62 per cent of age.
It can hardly be expected that so large a percentage of the women will vote, but it may be safely said that at least 32 per cent of them will.

Therefore it is evident to all observers that the women now hold the political balance of power. In the Maine election about 75 per cent of the women voted the Republican ticket. If that percentage should prevail in all the states north of the Mason and Dixon line and in the west
a Republican landslide of unprecedented magnitude would occur. That landslide is confidently expected by the Republican managers and indeed
in Washington is practically acknowledged by Democratic observers.

But it will not require 75 percent of the nine million women voting
the Republican ticket to cause a landslide to Harding and Coolidge.
If 25 percent of the women vote in New York participate in the election it will add nearly a million votes in the Empire State. In 1916 Hughes carried New York by more than 100,000, the total vote being 1,706,354. Had the women voted then a 100,000 plurality would have been increased several times over.

In Pennsylvania a 32 percent ratio would have added nearly 750,000 women's votes to the total of 1,300,000 cast for Hughes in 1916. Hughes carried Pennsylvania by 151,980, or about one fourth of the women votes that may be cast
in Pennsylvania in November.

Wilson carried Ohio in 1916 by 59,501. In Ohio if the 32 percent ratio occurs nearly half a million women will vote, eleven times Wilson's plurality in 1916.

There can be no question but that the women now hold the key to the National political situation and can throw victory to Republicans or Democrats. Judging from the way they voted in the Maine election it would seem that a great majority of the newly enfranchised citizens are preparing to line up throughout the country, except in the South, for Harding and Coolidge.

Every intelligent observer must agree that the result in Maine was a complete repudiation of the League of Nations by the women, and a tremendous Republican victory, which is ominous of Democratic defeat in November. Women can justly claim a great share of victory in Maine.
Had the women voted for the League the victory would have been equally significant of Democratic victory in November.

NINE MONTHS OLD AND A REPUBLICAN

This young man, all of nine months old, is the son of being the youngest son who has served America in the army. He is the Chicago convention. He is in discussion with the boys of the convention with Mrs. Harding.
He said he is too young to understand all about campaign contribution changes but said he will be old enough to know that spending money wins.

There will be no Sunday best at this church.—Mention made at ALBANY.

Continuation of work with crops
should give time to fix up around the farm.

High feed prices make it doubly desirable that the farmer should know about the production of the cows he is feeding.

Consumers and producers alike may look into the possibilities of direct marketing by parcels post, for nearby products.

Have you read the Cornell Bulletin on the problem of tuberculosis in cattle? Send to the college of agriculture at Ithaca for F 146.

A few farmers have tried putting their land with signs saying that the hunter or fisherman is welcome.
if he will be careful to cause no damage directly or indirectly.

Farming is just one emergency
after another: so the successful farmer is the one who is ready for any emergency. Have you arranged for all the needed bits require to carry through next winter?

Emerson has said that the most valuable product of a farm is not crops but character, and that men take out of the earth much more than they put into it.

Even good vegetables won't be likely to take a prize at the fair if they are badly displayed. Neatness and care in arrangement will mean the difference between the blue ribbons and none at all.

ELLENVILLE IN HEALTH NEWS

Article Descriptive of Jewish Sanitation Demonstration Station in State Bulletin—Dr. Goodwin Tells of Needs and Aims of His Society.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Sept. 25. (Special.)—Pointing out that the rural sanitation demonstration station at Ellenville was in accordance with the recommendations of the state department of health, Edward Goodwin, M. D., sanitary supervisor, Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid Society, dwells upon the institution in an article contributed to the Health News Bulletin, just issued by the state department of health.

Dr. Goodwin writes:

"As a result of the findings of a survey made in the summer of 1913 of sanitary conditions in the Jewish farming district of Sullivan and Ulster counties in New York state, and an educational campaign conducted in 1913 to correct existing conditions, the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid Society decided to establish a demonstration station in the midst of this district. Here there will be shown to the local Jewish farmers and any other interested persons those sanitary devices, the installation of which the society has been recommending for farmers, boarding and rooming houses. The society owns an excellent property in Ellenville. This consists of a three acre plot of land on which are located a garage and a large house. The latter serves as headquarters for the local office of the society. On this estate the sanitation exhibit is in process of construction. When completed the demonstration station will have an exhibit consisting of the following features so arranged that the details of construction can be easily examined:

(a) A sanitary well with walls showing the upper part set in concrete; with concrete cover; with proper soil grading.

(b) A concrete septic tank; type recommended by the New Hampshire state department of health together with a diverting chamber of three lines of distribution tile, demonstrating the method of subsoil irrigation.

(c) A double cesspool of the type recommended by the New York state department of health.

(d) Privies of the box and can type; a Lumsden privy as recommended by the United States public health service.

(e) A structure for a spring enclosure.

(f) A shower bath for farm establishments.

(g) A garbage incinerator.

The first three of these constructions are now approaching completion and the others will soon be under way. The society's equipment for additional educational exhibits and demonstrations also includes wall panels and posters, stereopticon views, and motion pictures. The models of certain sanitary appliances which the engineering division of the state department of health has used at state and county fairs have been loaned to the society and are also on exhibition at the demonstration station.

The construction of the exhibit was begun only after consultation with Theodore Horton, director of the division of sanitary engineering of the New York state department of health and in accordance with his recommendation."

AT THE THEATERS.

Marguerite Clark at Kerney's—"The Lost City" at Auditorium.

How would you like to be a girl-stenographer and to be told after fifteen years of living in a humble flat with a woman whom you had always called mother that your real mother was a fabulously wealthy widow who had been frantically searching for you? and if you had learned to love your foster mother dearly and hardly know your real mother at all just what would be your real emotions and what would you do? This is the dramatic situation that confronts Marguerite Clark in her new picture, "A Girl Named Mary," which is drawing tremendous crowds at Kerney's and will be shown for the last two times tonight, Monday and Tuesday Douglas MacLean and Doris May in "What's Your Husband Doing?"

The Auditorium tonight offers a double attraction in "The Lost City," a serial in fifteen episodes. The thrill of a life time is offered in the greatest African jungle story ever filmed, the danger that pretty Juanita Hansen courts is amazing. Dolores Cassinelli in "The Unknown Love" is the feature attraction. It is a story of a girl who played god-mother to a soldier in France with romantic results. Monday, "Under Northern Lights," a northwest mounted police story of action and thrills.

Emil Nitray and Frank Mandel, authors of the latest of comedies, "My Lady Friends," which is coming to the Kingston Opera House on Thursday matinee and night have written "something new under the sun." The piece is entirely original as to plot. Although the play is not musical, Mr. Norworth, the chief humorist, will sing a new song—"Spreading Sunshine." The show may well be called a "style show," as the gown creations for the fair sex are said to be most gorgeous. The play is in three acts and has been written for laughing purposes only.

Confessions to Murder.

William Rang, 17, an inmate of the reformatory at North Hampton, confessed last Thursday to the superintendent of the institution that he was guilty of a murder committed last February. He says he confessed to save another man accused of the crime.

Victims Return.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Winter of Redbank, Conn., formerly of this city, have returned to town and will open a lunch room at 73 Crown street and sell ice cream, candies, cigars and soft drinks. The location being near No. 7 school yard.

There will be no Sunday meet at 2.30. Advertisement.

K. H. S. FOOTBALL PROSPECTS GOOD

Many Tactful at School and Much New Material Available To Coach Hillman Here Next Saturday Kingston Hopes To Wipe Out Last Year's Defeat.

Kingston's school prospects for a championship football team are very bright at the present time. A goodly crowd of recruits is out for practice each night and Coach Hillman is fast whipping a crack eleven into shape.

Mr. Hillman started the team out with a lot of new plays which it is expected will completely baffles any team Kingston High goes up against. He has the boys out on the Athletic Field every afternoon until 5 or later and puts them through snappy practice of punting, kicking, tackling and then some old rough and hand scrum-mage.

Beside a number of new hunk recruits, there are some of the old players back. Muller, who played such a wonderfully good game at quarterback in 1918, is back at school in the game again. From his position it was easily seen that he has lost any of his skill as a gridiron star. He will probably play one of the half-back positions.

Mandrew, who played quarterback last year is in line for this position again.

Srs. the husky full-back of the 1917 team, is out on the gridiron again and exhibits the same skillful play that he did last season.

Weyant, Werry, Purcell, and Barmann of last year's squad are in the line-up and seem to be putting up good game.

Thompson, a new man in the back field, shows promise of being a good choice for a half back's job.

There are probabilities of Davenport, star half back of the 1919 team, returning to school and with him in the line-up K. H. S. will have a good strong team as far as the back field is concerned.

There are a number of new men out for the line positions and the coach has a large group to pick from. Most of the new material is showing up excellently and Coach Hillman means to make some of the huskies into real line men before the opening game next Saturday, October 2.

Albany High School is to be the first victim and will play here on next Saturday afternoon. Reports are current that A. H. S. has many of last year's players in the line-up but that does not seem to worry the Maroon and White warriors as they are out for revenge.

It is sincerely hoped the local high school football team will be enthusiastically supported. Everyone and anyone may see the games, the first being on next Saturday afternoon, October 2nd, at 3 o'clock.

London, Sept. 25. The flurry at the jail led to reports that Mac Swiney, who has been on hunger strike for 44 days, had suffered a critical relapse.

Mrs. Mac Swiney and two sisters of the Lord Mayor, arrived in taxicabs and quickly entered the jail infirmary.

SMALL BUT A SURE WINNER

It's only five feet tall but he's all wood and a yard wide. His name is Louis L. Collins and he was nominated at the June primary as the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor of Missouri. He is known all over the country as "The Little Giant" a title earned from years of service in France with the French Foreign Legion and later with the 11th Airborne Army in Germany in all the major campaigns in which that organization took part.

HOW TO RID FLOCK OF FLEAS

Necessary to Clean and Spray Houses and Run Thoroughly and Then Treat the Fowls.

In many of the Southern and Southwestern states fowls and chicks are often infested by a species of flea, commonly known as the "stick-tight" flea, because of its habit of sticking to one place on the bird instead of moving about like lice and mites. They are usually found in clusters on the comb, wattles, and around the eyes. Chicks, when infested, often die quickly. Old fowls, while usually stronger and more resistant, will cease laying, or nearly so, and sometimes die as the result of the attacks.

"Stick-tight" fleas breed in cracks and crevices of brood coops and poultry houses, and dry animal or vegetable refuse, but not in damp or wet places. Therefore, to get rid of them it is necessary to clean and spray the houses and runs thoroughly, as well as to treat the birds, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. Graze the comb and wattles of the fowls and chicks with a preparation of kerosene and lard—one part kerosene to three parts of lard—being very careful not to use too much of the mixture or get any of it in the birds' eyes or on other places where it is not necessary, as it may cause injury if used too freely.

Clean and spray the coops and houses thoroughly, the same as you poultry mites; also wet or spray the Handy Device for Spraying.

Yards or runs, especially any dry soil about the poultry houses, such as dirt floors or ground underneath a board floor, with a solution of salt and water, which helps to keep the ground moist and prevents the fleas from breeding.

OYSTER SHELLS ARE NEEDED

Lime is Essential for Hens to Manufacture Eggs—Fowls Will Balance Own Ration.

Fowls and hens do better for having oyster shell as a regular part of their ration. This was proved by the New York experiment station some years ago, when a poultry writer condemned the use of oyster shell as unnecessary.

It was proved that a pound of oyster shell contains enough lime to manufacture about seven dozen eggs. This should not be fed in the mash. Fowls know more about what they need to eat than we do. If they have the oyster shell, ground bone, meat scraps and grit in hoppers before them, with a variety of ground grains in their mash, they will balance their ration better than we can balance it for them.

DUST BATH VERY IMPORTANT

To Control Chicken Lice It is Necessary That Fowls Be Given Some Light Material.

One important condition in controlling chicken lice is to give the fowls abundant opportunity to dust themselves. For this purpose, dust, air dried lime, ashes, or any light, dusty material is suitable. Fresh, slightly damp (but not wet) earth in which to scratch or dust should always be available.

TURKEYS ARE HARD TO RAISE

Reason is Because Poultry Are Allowed to Become Chilled or Damp and Infected.

Many people say that turkeys are hard to raise, and some of them are. The reason for this is that they are not raised in the proper way. They are often kept in damp, cold places, and they are not given the proper food. They are also often infected with diseases.

It is not enough to just buy a turkey. You must also know how to raise it. You must give it the proper food, keep it in a dry, warm place, and protect it from diseases.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 24, 1920.
S. D. M. Hudson, Secretary, Chamber of Commerce, City.My Dear Mr. Hudson:
I make appreciative acknowledgment of your kind invitation, but regret that a previous speaking engagement without the city for tonight will prevent me being in attendance at the Chamber of Commerce
smoker.I earnestly hope that a large number of our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending and hearing Mr. George E. Mc-Coy. He has the interest of the whole Hudson valley at heart and has worked faithfully for its protection and advancement. Our city should be proud to receive him and to have the privilege of hearing him.
I also hope our citizens will exhibit their feeling of appreciation toward the management of Barth Company.
Kingston should merit the confidence placed in it by this company as evidenced by the establishment of its large factory here.To do so, the citizens must band themselves together and serve together to accomplish those things which must of necessity be done. The normal and proper civic machinery for such purpose is, of course, the Chamber of Commerce. Its achievements during the past year are worthy of the highest praise. It has placed the real stamp of excellence upon its industrial and other accomplishments and has proved itself to be a real and indispensable asset to the community. It has a work,
a greater work of real value before it.
All citizens who are interested in the progress of our city should become for it and of it.With heartiest congratulations for your record of the past year, and with best wishes for the success of your program for the ensuing year,
I am,
Yours for a better and greater Kingston.

"Y" BOYS' DEPT.The regular monthly social of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.
was held Friday evening in the rooms of the department. There were 61 boys present besides several men who came in to see how they were kept from carrying the place away with them, but they found it was merely knowing how.A program of freak songs, popular music and clog dances by a few judicious who were good, were given the floor. F. G. Clough played several solos on the trombone and
"Sweet Potato" much to the delight of the kids. He was accompanied by P. A. Arbuck on the piano and gave the boys a lot of amusement. Certificates were given to the boys who won places in the hexathalon gymnasium events last spring. The interest being created in the boys' department and the number of new members shows the type of work being done for the boys both appeals to them and to the parents and at the same time is constructive in their growth into manhood.A general invitation to parents to visit the boys' department with their boys is extended and it is hoped that the parents will enter into the enthusiasm of the program with the boys.FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 25.—There was no change in trading conditions on the stock exchange at the opening today, a heavy tone prevailing in the industrials generally, with the exception of the Petroleum shares. The rubber stocks were again pressed for sale. Kelly Springfield ranged from 57 1/2 to 58 1/2 and U. S. Rubber declined to 81 1/2. Mexican Petroleum had the widest range moving up 2 points to 189. Pan-American Petroleum rose 5/8 to 93 1/2. Sinclair Oil had a rise of 1/8 to 33 1/2. Steel Common sold down 1/4 to 88 1/2, but quickly recovered this loss. Baldwin sold up 1/2 to 110 1/2. American Hill and Lehigh Preferred continued in supply, falling 2 points to 54.
Fractional improvement was generally shown in the railroad issues.Quotations given by C. H. Halsey

A BOYS' GANG.

Congregate, Nightly in Lower section of City.

Those residing in the vicinity of Wurts, Hone and Spring streets are complaining of a bad gang of boys who congregate nightly in that vicinity and tear up lawns and use obscene language. The boys in the gang do not live in that vicinity but come from other sections. It is understood that the police have been notified and a few arrests will be made if the gang does not disperse.

Coffee Wont?

As usual there are two versions of Vince Coffey's 10-round bout with "Red" Allen at the Ocean Park A. A.
Lone Beach, Friday night. One reaching Kingston is that he gained the popular decision while a telegram to the Freeman signed by "Eddie Mead," says that "Red" handed him a severe beating and that Coffey was dropped for the count of nine in the sixth round.

Lawyers on Outing Today.

meeting of the Ulster County Bar Association was held this afternoon at yers, who made the trip by automo-

THAT THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW

FOREWORD
TO
YOUOwing to the unprecedented increase in the cost of practically everything that enters into the manufacture and distribution of gas, this company is furnishing the city with service at very much less than operating cost.These operating losses are piling up at the rate of over $50,000 a year.It is obvious, therefore, that the company cannot continue to furnish gas under these conditions.Accordingly, we are forced to increase our rates, but only to the extent of paying operating costs and a fair return on the investment.This is the first of a series of advertisements in which we will acquaint the public with the facts and show the necessity of a rate increase.You are entitled to know the facts, and knowing them, we believe, you will agree that the company can pursue no other course, especially when you realize that costs control rates.
